

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA
FACULTY HANDBOOK
AY 2024|2025

Preamble

This University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) Faculty Handbook is a resource for faculty that contains general information about UNO, including major policies and practices concerning University governance, faculty roles and responsibilities, as well as faculty resources. The Faculty Handbook is not all-encompassing of the regulations and policies that may affect a faculty member and their work—units have their own policies and procedures, such as bylaws, policies, and procedures for items such as unit promotion criteria and differential assignment procedures.

As a resource, the Handbook’s goal is to connect faculty with information they are searching for. It contains brief overviews with links that faculty can access for more complete information. The Handbook also includes a detailed Table of Contents for quick navigation.

The Office of Academic Affairs updates the Handbook annually on September 1st in consultation with the Faculty Senate. If you have suggestions for the Handbook, please contact Candice Batton, Associate Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs, or your Faculty Senate representative.

* Last updated 11/11/2024

* Faculty Handbook revisions are approved by the Faculty Senate during its August retreat.

I. FACULTY HANDBOOK OVERVIEW

This University of Nebraska at Omaha Faculty Handbook contains a presentation of major policies and practices concerning University governance, faculty roles and responsibilities, as well as faculty resources.

The Faculty Handbook is not a comprehensive compilation of all policies and documents that apply to faculty, nor is it a repository of all information that could potentially be useful to faculty. Rather, it is simply intended to be a helpful collection of materials most commonly of interest to faculty and academic administrators. For information about college or department policies/procedures and how they relate to the general policies listed here, please contact your Dean's office or your Department Chair.

Note: The employment relationship between a faculty member and the University is governed by a contract and/or letter of appointment, which incorporate the Board of Regents policies and the AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement contract. Nothing included in the Faculty Handbook alters the terms of a faculty contract or letter of appointment unless expressly stated within the contract or letter of appointment.

A. Purpose and Contents of Faculty Handbook

The Faculty Handbook is a guide designed to summarize and curate general information about the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO or the University), including regulations and policies that principally affect the Faculty. The Faculty Handbook is not all encompassing of the regulations and policies that may affect a Faculty member and their work. Units have their own policies and procedures, such as bylaws, policies and procedures for items such as unit promotion criteria and differential assignment procedures. Individual unit policies and procedures act as a supplement to this Faculty Handbook (aka the Handbook), the [AAUP] Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA), and other University-wide regulations and policies.

The [AAUP] Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) supersedes anything referenced in this handbook. Anything referenced in this handbook that is not within the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) is non-binding and subject to future negotiation. This Handbook contains no new policies and is meant to serve as a resource to enhance awareness of existing policies and resources of particular interest to faculty.

B. Schedule for Updates and Group Responsible

The Handbook is maintained by the Office of the Academic Affairs and is updated in consultation with the relevant units including but not limited to Academic Affairs, Faculty Senate, and Student Life and Well-Being. For suggestions to the Handbook, please contact the Office of Academic Affairs at [academic.affairs@unomaha.edu]. In the event of a conflict or inconsistency between this Handbook and a University policy or procedure, the University policy or procedure shall prevail.

The handbook is updated annually. For information about recent changes, contact the Assistant Vice Chancellor for Faculty Affairs or the Faculty Senate President.

During the academic year, the Faculty Senate does the following:

- monitors Faculty Senate actions that affect material described in the Faculty Handbook and transcribes those actions for inclusion in the handbook;
- reviews changes and additions to the Faculty Handbook.

II. RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Board of Regents' \(BOR\) Bylaws imposes certain obligations regarding the Rights and Responsibilities and Academic Freedom of professional staff. These are clearly articulated in Chapter IV, Sections 4.1 and 4.2 and are referred to and endorsed in the AAUP Contract 3.2.

A. Academic Responsibility

(BOR Bylaws 4.1) Membership in the academic community imposes certain obligations. These obligations include the following duties of academic responsibility:

- (a) To respect: (1) the dignity of others; (2) the right of others to express differing opinions; (3) the right of others to be free from fear, from violence, and from personal abuse; and (4) the right of the University community to be free from actions that impede its normal functioning.
- (b) To enroll, teach, and evaluate the work of students without regard to considerations such as age, sex, race, color, national origin, or religious or political beliefs.
- (c) To establish and maintain a classroom or laboratory atmosphere that encourages free inquiry and the free expression of ideas by students.
- (d) To present the subject matter of courses as announced to the students and approved by authorities responsible for the curriculum.
- (e) To study current developments and maintain competence in the areas of assigned courses; to examine, continually and critically, the subject matter of such courses, as well as teaching techniques and proposals for improving higher education.
- (f) To: (1) fulfill the assigned time schedule of all classes, including quizzes, laboratories, tests, and other meetings, unless absence is caused by an emergency or approved University business. Changes in the scheduled times shall be authorized by the Dean, Director, or Department Chair, with the agreement of the enrolled students and in the interest of an academic objective; (2) be available at frequent, regular, and scheduled times for student consultation; and (3) inform students concerning the requirements, standards, objectives, and evaluation procedures at the beginning of each course.
- (g) To participate upon request in the activities of the University in the areas of student advising and public service, and as appropriate, in the activities of the department, the college, the campus, and the University.
- (h) To make every effort to indicate that members of the professional staff are not spokesmen for the University except when authorized so to act.
- (i) To create and protect an atmosphere of intellectual honesty in the academic community.

B. Academic Freedom

(BOR Bylaws 4.2) The University serves the people of Nebraska and the common good through learning, teaching, extension work, research, scholarship, and public service. Fulfillment of these functions requires the preservation of intellectual freedoms of teaching, expression, research, and debate. The right to search for truth, to support a position the searcher believes is the truth, and to disagree with others whose intellect reaches a different conclusion is the fiber of America's greatness. It is, likewise, the strength of a great University, and its preservation is vital.

A teacher or researcher is entitled to freedom in research, and publication of the results of research, limited only by the precepts of scholarship and faithful performance of academic obligations. Members of the professional staff are entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing their subjects.

Members of the professional staff are entitled to exercise their right to speak and act as citizens of the United States and of the State of Nebraska. Members of the professional staff shall not suffer sanctions or be discriminated against with respect to the duration of association with the University, pay or other emoluments of their office, appointment, position, or their working conditions because of their enjoyment, or exercise, of their right of academic freedom, or in any case where such action would constitute a violation of federal or state civil rights laws or regulations. Staff members who violate laws prescribed by civil authorities may incur penalties attached to such laws. The University should not impose sanctions to duplicate the function of these laws. Where the University's interest as an academic community is clearly involved, the authority of the University may be asserted. The Board reaffirms belief in, pledges support of, and directs all segments of the University community to sustain and follow the foregoing principles of academic freedom.

History: Amended, 49 BRUN 300 (16 June 1984) Several sections were consolidated and renumbered in the 1984 revised edition.

3. Faculty Service Learning Award

The Faculty Service Learning Award recognizes faculty members for their extraordinary efforts in service learning programs. The Faculty Service Learning Award is presented to a faculty member who has been supportive of service learning at UNO through faculty-student presentations, teaching circles, mentoring faculty-students, etc. The faculty member must also have a thorough understanding and appreciation of community issues such as professionalism and cultural competency.

4. Outstanding Graduate Mentor Award

The Outstanding Graduate Mentor Award, presented by the Office of Graduate Studies, was created to recognize individual faculty who place high values on and excel in mentoring graduate students. Recipients must have an established record of teaching excellence at the graduate level and mentoring students who have received their degrees. They also should excel at attracting graduate students to study at UNO through recruitment efforts and a visible and respected academic reputation in their area of expertise.

5. Faculty Excellence in Engagement Award

The Faculty Excellence in Engagement Award recognizes excellence in global or community engagement. Global engagement refers to the myriad ways faculty work to connect UNO to the world through their teaching, research and creative activity, and service. UNO defines community engagement as the “collaboration between the University and its local, regional, national and global communities for the exchange of knowledge and resources.”

The following applies to all of the campuswide chairs and professorships:

- Named chairs and professorships are typically for a three-year period and are renewable for a second term, based on a review of performance.
- Faculty currently holding one named professorship or chair may be considered for others; however, only one such appointment may be held at a time.

To learn more, visit the Named Professorships and Chairs webpage.

IX. FACULTY EVALUATION AND ADVANCEMENT

A. Faculty Performance Reviews

Faculty performance is systematically reviewed each year through two processes: Annual Review and Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure (RPT).

Watermark Faculty Success are used to generate the faculty activities reports required for both the annual review and RPT processes. Watermark Faculty Success can be accessed from the my.unomaha.edu page.

B. Annual Review

Through the Annual Review process, all faculty are evaluated every year, both in terms of their performance and achievements for the previous year as well as their goals and objectives for the coming year. Faculty are also provided feedback on their performance and future goals as a means of ensuring continuous improvement. To be eligible for a salary increase, faculty performance and accomplishments for the previous year must be evaluated as “satisfactory” by the Department Chair and Dean.

C. Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure (RPT)

The RPT process facilitates the rigorous review of faculty being considered for tenure and/or promotion. Tenure-track faculty are evaluated each year to assess progress toward promotion and tenure. The process involves a rigorous review by department and college faculty and by academic leaders, including the Department Chair, Dean, and Senior Vice Chancellor. Faculty who fail to make sufficient progress may not be reappointed. The RPT process is also used to consider faculty promotion cases, which also involve a rigorous review by faculty peers and academic leaders.

The standard, procedures, criteria, and guidelines for evaluating faculty performance established by the University of Nebraska system represent the minimum considerations used for reviewing and evaluating faculty performance.

Colleges, schools, and departments provide more exacting guidelines, within the boundaries established by the Board of Regents (Bylaws Section 4.5; 4.6), that reflect the characteristics of excellence established within particular disciplines.

More about the Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure Guidelines.

Link to the Collective Bargaining Agreement, see Section 3.4.

D. Evaluation of Performance Portfolios

For both Annual Review and RPT, faculty are responsible for compiling a portfolio to be reviewed by various department and college committees as well as by their Department Chair, Dean, and the Senior Vice Chancellor. Faculty members should check with their department and college for specific instructions about format and contents. Generally, Annual Review portfolios only contain documentation pertaining to activities completed in the previous year as well as coming year goals and objectives. RPT portfolios, however, are necessarily cumulative in nature, and therefore, tend to require more extensive documentation. Both review processes require the completion of the appropriate forms and supporting documentation.

The amount of supporting documentation required for annual review and RPT depends, in part, on individual department/school policies and expectations. Generally, faculty members should include descriptions of activities or accomplishments, indicate their significance, and in the case of publications, provide proper bibliographic information.

E. Compensation and Salary Increase Process

Evaluations and records of performance in the annual reviews shall be considered in determining salary increases, reappointment, promotion in rank, and award of Continuous Appointment.

Salary increases are negotiated by the AAUP and specified in the Collective Bargaining Agreement. All eligible Unit Members, whose performance for the Academic Year was judged satisfactory or better as a result of the formal performance reviews are typically conducted in March-April, receive an equal percentage increase. For Unit Members qualifying for exceptional performance increases; a separate pool of money is allocated to the Colleges that is proportional to the salary base of Unit Members.

F. Additional Compensation on Sponsored Projects

This Policy establishes general provisions to cover the circumstances and limitations under which extra compensation may be appropriate for employees who are supported in any way by sponsored projects. Compensation, including summer, academic year, and additional compensation (often referred to as “extra service” or “overload”) payments, for personnel paid on federal or federal pass-through funds, is governed by Uniform Guidance, 2 CFR 200, in §200.430 Compensation—personal services. Per this guidance, UNO is required to treat all compensation on sponsored projects uniformly, including compensation on non-federal awards.

X. TEACHING POLICIES AND RESOURCES

A. Teaching Policies

1. Course Syllabi and Student Learning Outcomes

Faculty are asked to post a syllabus for their course in Canvas. It is the first thing that students consult to learn about the course, and the Department Chair and the Dean of the college ask for to arbitrate disputes. Faculty are advised to review the syllabus by the first class. The syllabus should include details about course content, prerequisites, drop deadlines, attendance policy, exam times, make-up policy, faculty office hours, and grading procedure. The more detailed the syllabus, the fewer challenges there are later. An important element of a course (and its syllabus) is determining the student learning outcomes (SLO). A student learning outcome is a formal statement detailing what a student/learner should know or be able to do at the conclusion of the course or learning intervention. Course SLO's are found on the Master Syllabus which can be found using the UNO-Courseleaf Course Inventory Management System (CIM).

2. Faculty Office Hours

Board of Regents Policies require faculty to create regular office hours. The Collective Bargaining Agreement (3.1.3.3) delineates that unit members in departments with an instructional mission will maintain scheduled office hours each semester and will post the hours they will be available for discussion of assignments and examinations, advisement, and related matters. Each Unit Member will be available at frequent, regular, and scheduled times outside of class time for student consultation.

3. Student Attendance

Regular attendance in coursework is important and the current attendance policy guides student and faculty. Each faculty member has the responsibility to determine specific attendance policies for each course taught. On the first day of class, each faculty member will make available to each student a written statement of the specific attendance policy, if any, for that class including the role that attendance plays in the calculation of final grades.

4. Academic Calendar

The Academic Calendar is posted to ensure students have adequate feedback early enough in the semester to assess their academic progress in each course. Students without feedback and opportunities to consult with faculty may drop courses and jeopardize timely progress toward their degree.

5. Prep Week

The last week of regularly scheduled classes during the fall and spring semesters is designated as Prep Week. Except for makeup examinations, tests in self-paced courses, or laboratory exams, no major examination accounting for more than 20% of a student's grade may be given during this period. Papers, projects, or presentations assigned at least two weeks in advance of Prep Week may be due during this period.

6. Final Exams

Final exams must be offered during Final Exam week at the time assigned by the Registrar. No final exams are to be given during the week prior or outside the assigned time.

7. Course Evaluations

The Automated Course Evaluations (ACE) is conducted for every academic course at UNO. Students are surveyed at the end of every semester. ACE is administered by the SIDA office, which also makes the data available to faculty and departments.

8. Academic Integrity

The maintenance of academic honesty and integrity is a vital concern of the University community. Any student found responsible for violating the Academic Integrity Policy shall be subject to both academic and disciplinary sanctions. Under the Bylaws of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska [Sections 2.9 and 4.1(i)], the respective colleges of the University have jurisdiction over procedural matters concerning academic dishonesty. Just as the task of inculcating values of academic honesty resides with the faculty, the faculty is entrusted with the discretionary authority to decide how incidents of academic dishonesty are to be resolved.

9. Behavior, Rights and Responsibilities of Students

Per the Board of Regents Policy on Behavior, students, like all members of the academic community, have the responsibility to create a supportive educational environment. Disruptions in the classroom environment impact everyone. Faculty encountering challenges are encouraged to refer matters to the UNO Care Team.

10. Accommodations

The Accessibility Services Center (ASC) works specifically with students who have a documented disability. Below are three different accessibility statements depending on course components. For more information on accommodations and accessibility matters, please contact ASC (Location: HK 104, Phone: 402.554.2872, Email: unoaccessibility@unomaha.edu)

a. Accessibility statement for courses without field placements or study abroad components:

Reasonable accommodations are provided for students who are registered with ASC and make their requests sufficiently in advance.

b. Accessibility statement for courses that include a field placement:

Reasonable accommodations are provided for students who are registered with ASC and make their requests sufficiently in advance. In addition to accommodations in the classroom, the ASC helps coordinate accommodations for students with disabilities at practicum sites, internships, service-learning experiences, or other field placements. It is important to speak with an ASC representative early in the site selection process.

c. Accessibility statement for courses that include study abroad:

Reasonable accommodations are provided for students in the Education Abroad program who are registered with ASC and make their requests sufficiently in advance. Students should contact ASC at least three months prior to the start of the study abroad program to ensure that coordination of services can occur between the student, ASC, and Education Abroad office. Accommodations may not be possible for all programs and locations.

d. Medical Supervision

Medical Supervision allows students to regain lost attendance points and make up assignments and exams that were missed during excused absences. A letter or other documentation from the student's provider is submitted to the ASC to establish the date(s) or date range(s) that the student was under medical care and unable to attend class. The ASC will send emails to professors excusing student absences for those dates. Students do not need to be registered with ASC to receive medical supervision.

11. Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Title IX

14. Religious Observances

All UNO offices are asked to be sensitive to the needs of faculty, staff, and students who are observing a religious holiday. UNO has a Religious Observances Policy that recognizes the diverse faith traditions represented among its campus community and supports the rights of faculty, staff, and students to observe according to these traditions. Upon receipt of reasonable and advance notice from a student, faculty are asked to make appropriate accommodations for students' observance needs by providing an opportunity to make up any examination, study, or work requirement that is missed because of an absence due to a religious observance faculty are encouraged to consult with their academic Dean and/or the Office of Academic Affairs if they have questions and/or if they need assistance in developing an appropriate accommodation for religious observances.

ORCA facilitates an annual Student Research and Creative Activity Fair, which is open to all students (undergraduate and graduate). Students who receive FUSE or GRACA grants are required to present at the fair whereas it is optional for all other students.

C. Research Compliance

Research Compliance is committed to ensuring ethics, honesty, and integrity in pursuit of UNO's Research activities. The ORCA Research Compliance team oversees several areas of compliance, including human subject research, animal subject research, research involving hazardous materials, conflicts of interest in research, responsible conduct of research education, export controls, research integrity, and research data security.

1. Research Integrity Policy

UNO is committed to maintaining an academic environment based on intellectual honesty and integrity. UNO expects ethical conduct from all those engaged in research. UNO is dedicated to preventing misconduct in research and supporting good faith efforts to intervene and remedy such conduct.

2. Export Control Policy

Export controls affect us all. The regulations are a series of laws that regulate the shipment, transfer and disclosure of controlled items, technical data, software, and some activities aimed to protect the national security, economic impact and foreign policy. Specific impact on academia includes participation by foreign nationals including students, faculty, staff and visitors in certain research activities, foreign collaboration and sponsors, contracting, procurement, international shipment, international travel, as well as research conducted in certain countries.

3. Human Subject Research Policies

The Institution Review Board (IRB) assures the protection of all human subjects in research projects conducted by anyone on the premises of UNO and provides oversight for all research that is conducted elsewhere by UNO faculty, students, staff, or other representatives. The IRB also protects the investigator and the institution through a comprehensive review process. All human subject research must be reviewed and approved by the IRB prior to beginning such research.

4. Animal Subject Research Policy

The Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) assists faculty, students, and staff in upholding UNO's determination to assure the finest care and most humane utilization of our laboratory animals. To this end, every research, testing, and teaching project involving the use of a live, vertebrate animal must be reviewed and approved by the IACUC prior to initiation.

5. Responsible Conduct of Research \(RCR\) Policy

RCR is defined as the practice of scientific investigation with integrity by applying ethical norms and principles in the performance of research. This training requirement applies to all personnel, faculty and students at UNO who obtain research funding through National Institutes of Health (NIH), National Science Foundation (NSF) or National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA).

6. Conflict of Interest Policy

Conflict of interest disclosures must be filled out by all full-time faculty, managerial/professional staff, anyone involved in research, anyone with outside professional activity involving a foreign entity, all employees who have been issued a p-card, or who have signatory authority. All PIs on university research projects are required to complete conflict of interest disclosures, certain federal agencies may necessitate additional COI training and disclosure requirements. The university uses an electronic system, NuRamp, to submit, approve and maintain conflict of interest disclosure records, the form should be updated annually or at any time when a potential or actual conflict occurs.

7. Research and Data Security Policy

Data security involves using best practices when using, storing, sending, and sharing data. Data must be classified as high, medium or low risk and stored on appropriate systems for the risk classification level of the data. While research data will be classified using the university's risk classification assessment, there may be additional compliance requirements provided by the research sponsor. Some research projects require data management plans to be created and put in place to store and share data.

C. Communities of Practice

Communities of Practice (now merged with Faculty Leadership Forums) offer a way for groups of faculty members to network, share ideas and resources, and support one another related to their work in a common area. These can focus on writing and research, student engagement, competency-based education, or AI.

D. Faculty Coaching

Faculty coaches are available to work with full-time faculty on topics including, but not limited to: addressing wellbeing, improving daily habits, and navigating difficult situations.

E. Faculty Mentorship

The Center for Faculty Excellence facilitates two opportunities related to faculty mentoring:

1. General mentor training is available for current academic mentors and individuals who wish to become mentors.
2. The TANDEM program is open to second and third-year full-time faculty who will be partnered with mentors outside their home academic unit who might share broader social and cultural affinities within our community of scholars. This program is optional and designed to work in tandem with the mentoring that occurs in the faculty member's home unit.

F. Faculty and Academic Leadership Development

1. Leadership Faculty Fellows Program

Leadership Faculty Fellows (LFF) are intended to support the development of diverse faculty leadership for the campus. Fellows work collaboratively with academic leadership in Academic Affairs and across the colleges to develop or build capacity in an area of need. In addition to taking the lead on a particular project or initiative that advances the mission of Academic Affairs on campus, fellows also have the opportunity to learn about more general administrative tasks and priorities associated with supporting academic leadership of the campus.

2. Academic Administrator Training

A series of workshops intended to build skills for chairs/directors and other campus leaders.

3. NU Developing Excellence in Academic Leaders \(DEAL\) Program

The NU Developing Excellence in Academic Leaders (DEAL) program is a focused, two-year investment in personal growth and development. Participants will refine their leadership skills while interacting within the context of the many subcultures of our multifaceted educational enterprise. The program is intended for individuals from each campus who are currently serving in academic leadership roles (Department Chairs, Center Directors, Assistant/Associate Deans) and have interest in expanding their leadership practice and skills.
