HOLOCAUST AND GENOCIDE ACADEMY

About the Sam and Frances Fried Holocaust and Genocide Academy

The Sam and Frances Fried Holocaust and Genocide Academy promotes and facilitates the scholarly study of the Holocaust and other genocides and provides students, faculty and community members the tools to assist in the prevention of crimes against humanity.

We support University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) community engagement and commemorative activities, along with promoting scholarship that raises awareness of Holocaust and genocide history. We are dedicated to fostering and encouraging greater collaboration between UNO and local community organizations.

The Sam and Frances Fried Holocaust and Genocide Academy is also proud to have helped establish and grow UNO's Holocaust and Genocide Studies Minor, the first of its kind in the Midwest. This comprehensive program of study is designed to assist students understand the causes of genocide, to draw lessons from the past and to help them in the becoming responsible global citizens.

About the UNO Holocaust and Genocide Studies Minor:

Through a balanced program of study, students will gain a working knowledge of the tools of deterrence, mediation and justice concerning cases of genocide throughout history. They will learn the various stages and influences leading to genocide and gain strategies to recognize and react to intolerance occurring at home and abroad. Through education and activism, we can better prevent evil from extinguishing our humanity.
