

Latin American Contributions to Human Rights Law, from 1948 to Now

Sept. 26, 2024 | 11:30 AM - 12:45 PM | UNO CPACS 132D

In this forum, a panel of experts will discuss how Latin American lawyers, diplomats, and activists have contributed to the development of human rights principles and law, from the Universal Declaration of Human Rights to the present time. UNO faculty will be joined by Samuel Moyn, Yale University professor and a prominent scholar of the history of human rights, for a lively discussion of the ups and downs of international human rights in the last 75 years, with a focus on Latin America.

Dr. Samuel Moyn

Henry R. Luce Professor of Jurisprudence and Professor of History at Yale University

Dr. Cristián Doña-Reveco

Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of the Office of Latino and Latin American Studies, UNO

Dr. Lana Obradovic

Professor of Political Science and Goldstein Family Community Chair in Human Rights, UNO

Dr. Brett Kyle

Associate Professor of Political Science, UNO

Moderator: Dr. Laura Alexander

Associate Professor of Religious Studies and Executive Director of the Goldstein Center for Human Rights, UNO

Zoom Registration:

bit.ly/Latin-American-HR-Zoom

RSVP for in person attendance:

bit.ly/RSVP-in-person

GOLDSTEIN FAMILY COMMUNITY CHAIR
IN HUMAN RIGHTS

GOLDSTEIN CENTER
FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

